ABOUT

PROFILE

John D. Khami, CCIM, has been involved in the commercial real estate industry for more than 20 years. His clients have saved money in the second largest expense for a company-- the cost of real estate.

Knowledge, integrity, solid research and results are the benchmarks of business success and have been John's foundation. His clients have saved time and money on real estate costs, which affects the bottom line for their companies. John always brings bankable knowledge to the transaction through market knowledge, asking tough questions and creating opportunities for both tenants and landlords.

CAREER SUMMARY

With multiple years of experience in the acquisition, disposition and leasing of facilities and land in Troy, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Novi and Farmington Hills, Michigan. John spent several years at the Detroit offices of Lee and Associates and at Cushman & Wakefield where he earned the Deal of the Year award.
